Edition 2
2011/2012

With this collection I dress the woman who wants to escape her intense living and working schedule, her powerful career responsibilities, her grinding suit-and-tie days.

Wearing my creations this woman will feel light, removed from the straight and narrow. She will find herself in my silhouettes: clean and straight, almost two-dimensional, or hand-draped and twisted.

My new collection is based on the kind of beauty inherent in our daily life, our surroundings, but seen with different eyes. I created unique and colorful fabric prints visually inspired by house-fronts and for me even more interesting, by backs of houses. Developed by myself, these designs are printed by an ecologically working Belgian print company.
